

Showing interest in a conversation: short questions

Keep the conversation going! Fill in the blanks to respond to each sentence.

→ “My daughter is starting a new job next week.”

→ “The bus should already be here.”

→ “They didn't expect that.”

→ “Laura couldn't do it.”

→ “Her friends asked me to tell you.”

→ “I'm sure it's ok.”

→ “My parents are coming this weekend.”

→ “I've painted the kitchen walls.”

→ “Max can't read yet.”

→ “Leanne and Peter went to a party last night.”

→ “You could work for that company.”

→ “I get up at 5am every single day.”

→ “She'll buy him a birthday present.”

→ “Paul had gone to the shops when I arrived.”

→ “Sally has changed jobs.”

→ “Jim always left the office after 8 pm.”

Showing interest in a conversation: short questions

Keep the conversation going! Fill in the blanks to respond to each sentence.

→ "My daughter is starting a new job next week."

"Is she?"

→ "The bus should already be here."

"Should it?"

→ "They didn't expect that."

"Didn't they?"

→ "Laura couldn't do it."

"Couldn't she?"

→ "Her friends asked me to tell you."

"Did they?"

→ "I'm sure it's ok."

"Are you?"

→ "My parents are coming this weekend."

"Are they?"

→ "I've painted the kitchen walls."

"Have you?"

→ "Max can't read yet."

"Can't he?"

→ "Leanne and Peter went to a party last night."

"Did they?"

→ "You could work for that company."

"Could I?"

→ "I get up at 5am every single day."

"Do you?"

→ "She'll buy him a birthday present."

"Will she?"

→ "Paul had gone to the shops when I arrived."

"Had he?"

→ "Sally has changed jobs."

"Had she?"

→ "Jim always left the office after 8 pm."

"Did he?"